Jack Guinn Says Keep Away From the Deep End

The Watchdog

A reader who says he is alarmed over the Berlin crisis writes that he was somewhat relieved to hear that Gen. Maxwell Taylor had been called back to active duty to advise the president on whatever lies ahead.

However, he says, he noted that the general is expected to worry about this problem and, according to one dispatch, "make sure the Central Intelligence Agency meets the government's future demands."

It's too much to ask of anybody, he says, to out-guess the Communists and the CIA too.
